New Street Costs $950

Contracts for Opening of Fifteenth Street Signed at Special Meeting of City Council

Friday night the city council formally signed the contracts for the opening of Fifteenth street between East Chestnut and East Main streets. The opening of the street will cost the city exactly $950 and the signing of the contracts was the consummation of a long period of squabbling on the part of residents in that vicinity.

Members of the council feel that the problem which has so long proven a bug bear full of kinks and knots has been well solved. Although the city will pay $950 for the new street the acceptance by the council of either of the previous propositions would undoubtedly have been the cause of litigation costing the city thousands of dollars and in addition a much-needed street has been secured.

The substance of the contracts was given in Thursday's morning's issue of The Tribune.

Vacate Original Site.

In addition to the signing of the contracts an ordinance was passed vacating a strip of land extending through the Snyder and Senft addition where the street, according to their first plat, was to have been put through. The right to the ground was given the city so that a water main might be built. A part of the ditch for the water main had already been dug but the city relinquishes title to the ground.

Four Sheep Are Killed by Canines

A flock of sheep belonging to Irwin Porteus of Pleasant Valley was invaded by dogs Thursday night and four of the animals killed. Mr. Porteus was attracted by the disturbance in the field where the sheep were grazing and hurried to the field but was unable to capture the dogs. Farmers in that vicinity have taken warning from Mr. Porteus' experience and have promised a "warm welcome" to dogs that attempt to repeat the raid.

More Preachers Than Barkeepers in Georgia Prison

Atlanta, Ga., June 12.—Clergymen here were shocked when they learned to-day through the prison commission report that there are more preachers than bartenders serving as convicts in Georgia penal camps. The report says there are twenty preachers and only seventeen bartenders.

There are 812 murder convicts, 365 for manslaughter, 288 for attempted murder and five accessories. The report shows that Georgia judges and juries are not partial to capital punishment, even in cases of a conviction for murder.

There are 898 life convicts, more than half being married. There are nurses, school teachers, blacksmiths, clerks, coachmen, policemen, doctors, lawyers, preachers, pilots and tramps in stripes in Georgia, but no newspaper men.

Admits She Killed Child And Husband

Harrisonville, Mo., June 12—Mrs. Arthur Kellar confessed late today that it was she who killed her husband, a railroad laborer, and their daughter, Margaret, 7, last Tuesday. Kellar and the girl were slain with an ax as they lay in their beds.

The confession was signed by Mrs. Keller and she was taken to jail.

"God knows I would not have killed them had I known what I was doing," Mrs. Kellar said in her confession. She declared she had frequently been irresponsible since she received a blow on the head two years ago.

Mrs. Kellar said that after killing her husband and daughter she picked up the ax and broke a piece off her own bed that she might make it appear that she also had been attacked. This done she went to the neighbors and told the story of a man who had fled as she awakened after he had struck at her with an ax.

Miss Sample is Called to Reward

In the death of Miss Sarah Sample, which occurred Friday morning at 3 o'clock at Keenan's hospital, Coshocton has lost one of her best known and most dearly beloved women. On June 2, Miss Sample sustained a fractured hip and other injuries when she fell from the back porch at her home on Locust street. A few hours after she was injured she was removed to Keenan's hospital where she was given every attention but in spite of all that was done to relieve her, death brought an end to her suffering after an illness of but ten days' duration.

Miss Sample's life history is one that tells of years of devoted unselfishness to others. In a quiet, unassuming way she lived an upright Christian life that has proved an inspiration to all who have known her through the years that are gone. Miss Sample was born in Coshocton county seventy one years ago and, with the exception of occasional journeys to Kansas and elsewhere, she spent her entire life in Coshocton. For twenty years she was a teacher in the Coshocton public schools. She was known as one of the most efficient and capable teachers ever employed in this city. Many Coshocton men and women who were lifelong friends of Miss Sample date the beginning of the inspiring and helpful friendship which had no small influence on their future lives, to the acquaintance which began in the school room.

In 1883 the death of Mrs. Lamberson, Miss Sample's sister, ne-

Committee Indorses Free Wool And Sugar

Washington, June 13.—Free raw wool immediately and free sugar in three years, as indorsed by President Wilson and adopted by the house, were approved today by the majority members of the senate finance committe. The action sustaining the administration on both schedules was taken after amendments to alter them had been voted down.

Vote Not Made Public.

The committee voted, however, to leave open for the present the time when the rates on the new schedules are to become effective, whether at the enactment of the new tariff law or at a later date. That will be determined after all the schedules have been approved.

An amendment for a duty of 15 per cent. ad valorem on raw wool was beaten by a vote not made public. The Stone sub-committee was unanimously in favor of no duty.

The sugar section was reported favorably by Senator Williams' subcommittee. An amendment to strike out the provision for free sugar after three years was voted down.

Glass Schedule Adopted.

"We acted on some amendments," said Senator Simmons, chairman of the committee, "but we are not going to talk about them."

The majority also adopted the glass schedule, approving a subcommittee amendment which increased the duty on unpolished cylinder, crown and common window glass in small sizes from seven-eights of a cent to 1 cent a pound.

Loses Grip and Has Leg Broken by Heavy Stone

Harold Overholt sustained a broken right leg Friday noon while loading a heavy stone on a sled at the home of his father, James Overholt on the Plainfield road. He and three other men were trying to lift the stone on the sled when Overholt lost his grip allowing the heavy object to fall directly across his leg. Both bones were broken.

Dr. Marshall was called making the trip in his automobile. The fracture was reduced and Friday night the young man was reported to be resting somewhat easier.

Senior Class Returns After Enjoyable Trip

The members of the senior class of the Coshocton high school who have been enjoying a trip to Niagara Falls and Toronto, Canada, returned home Friday evening somewhat travel-stained and weary but otherwise well and happy. With one accord the members of the class voted the trip a splendid success. The schedule arranged for the students could not possibly have crowded more pleasure and sight-seeing into the given space of time. Cleveland, Buffalo, Niagara and Toronto were visited and at each stop the time was used to the best of advantage.

The portion of the time spent at Niagara was probably the most enjoyable part of the trip. Wednesday the members of the class saw the Falls from the Canadian side going to Lewiston and Toronto later in the day. Returning Thursday they enjoyed the gorge ride on the American side and returned to Buffalo the same evening.

After breakfasting in Cleveland yesterday the party went to Canton where they were guests of the Elks club for the day. Touring the city in automobiles as guests of the Elks the students saw all the "sights of Canton." After lunching at the Elks club they spent the remainder of the day

Lightning Bolt Gives Boy Use of Legs First Time

Jamaica, L. I., June 12.—Electrical current from a bolt of lightning passing through the body of Tommy Brown, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. William Brown, caused the boy to walk for the first time in his life.

Tommy has always appeared perfectly normal physically but had never been able to control his legs sufficiently to walk.

In a severe electrical storm a bolt of lightning struck the roof of the Brown home. When the mother looked up from the corner where she had hidden in fear of the lightning, she was astonished to find that little Tommy was walking about, apparently with perfect control over his legs.

B. Finnell Submits to Operation

Bart Finnell underwent a serious operation at the City hospital Friday afternoon. Dr. L. C. Mc Curdy was assisted by Drs. McClain and Marshall in the performing the operation. For the past several months the patient's condition has been regarded as serious and the operation was performed in the hope of aiding his recovery. He was reported to be resting as comfortably as could be expected Friday night.

"Hitchie-Coo" Is the Latest Dance

Atlantic City, N. J., June 12.—The "Hitchie-Coo," a combination of the "One-step" and "Tango," with a graceful kick as the final feature of each set, was introduced as latest dance creation at the annual convention of the International Dancing Master's association in session here.

F. W. Scott of Michagan, the oldest member in attendance, declared that "trots that necessitate the clinch hug should be prohibited by legislation. There is nothing bad about the new dances if they are danced correctly, but they seldom are."

As to Looking Gift Horses in the Mouth.

The old saying, "Don't look a gift horse in the mouth," used to apply to the advertising a manufacturer did for the benefit of the retailer who handled his product.

The mere fact that the manufacturer was spending his money on advertising was supposed to satisfy the retailer, who was told not to question the quality of the "gift horse"—the advertising being the "gift horse."

Times have changed. Retail houses understand the value of advertising that creates direct demand—of local newspaper advertising.

If the manufacturer wants to spend money in advertising for your benefit, Mr Retailer, why not insist that it shall be spent where it will do both you and him the most good?

The best way to bring customers to your store to inquire for a nationally distributed article is through the columns of The Tribune and other good newspapers. Tell the manufacturer that, Mr. Retailer.

Ditch Caves In on Digger

Louis Wolfe Sustains Serious Injuries When Buried Under Ton of Earth on Fifteenth St. Friday

Louis E. Wolfe, 30, sustained what may prove to be serious internal injuries when buried beneath a tremendous weight of dirt in a cave while digging a ditch on Fifteenth street Friday afternoon. The injured man was dug out by other laborers and taken to his home on Denman avenue but a physician was not called until some time later when he became ill. An examination showed that while no bones had been broken he had been injured internally.

Feels No Ill Effects.

Wolfe was digging in the ditch and while stooping over one side of the wall caved in. He was caught and the dirt covered him almost completely the great weight crushing him until he could not cry out. Other men who were near the scene, dug him out and he stated at the time that other than being slightly weak he felt no ill effects.

Later Becomes Ill.

He was taken to his home in a cab and it was not until several hours later that he began to complain of pains in the abdominal region. He became sick and Dr. Shaw was summoned. Friday night he was reported to have a high fever and suffering great pain. Although the exact extent of his injuries are not known his condition was regarded as serious.

Friday, the 13th. Has No Terrors for Veteran Joe

On Friday (the thirteenth) Joe Gill, a veteran of the Civil war, made application for an increase in pension. He is now drawing $20 per month and seeks to have it raised to $25. The raise will probably be granted since the latter amount is given all of the old soldiers past the age of 70 years.

Thumb Cut in Paper Cutter

Edward Sullivan, of East Main street, sustained a badly cut right thumb while working at the Hunt-Crawford corrugated paper mill Friday morning. He was operating a cutter when his thumb caught between the two knives and the end was severed. Dr. J. D. Lower was called and dressed the injured member.

In return for pleading guilty, the five would get six months sentences, instead of a year, and all felony charges would be dropped

Experts Predict America Will Defeat Germany In Davis Cup Preliminaries

New York, June 13—Now that America has triumphed in four out of five matches from Australasia and is a round nearer the Davis cup it makes the going look rather easy to land the famous trophy in this country. With Australia out of the way America next plays the Germans, who defeated the French recently. McLoughlin, Hackett and Williams will sail for England shortly, where they will participate in the All England championships at Wimbledon and subsequently work their way to Germany to decide the second round in the Davis cup preliminaries. The kaiser's representatives are likely to prove a harder foe than the Antipodeans, for Charles Haggett, the English professional, who taught the German team a few points of the game, believes that America will eliminate the Sutherland players. If McLoughlin maintains the speed he showed against the Australians in the foreign matches almost every racket wielder in Europe will be forced to bow before him, according to Coach Haggett. This country's victory over Australia reads like a personal triumph for the fiery Californian. Out of the three matches necessary to clinch the series McLoughlin won two. It fell to the lot of the young national champion to open the series against Australia. Taking on the veteran Horace Rice, the Californian defeated the visitor in three straight sets allowing him but seven games out of the total number. His next achievement was in the doubles with Hackett against Jones and Doust. Mainly on McLoughlin's magnificent playing the foreigners were forced to six sets before they were able to win the match. With the score two to one in his team's favor McLoughlin drew Stanley Doust as his next opponent. This country only needed one more match to capture the series. If the champion lost his match the task of pulling America out a winner would fall on Williams, the Harvard freshman, but the Californian took good care to see that things didn't get that far. Although he let down on his tennis-like attack, McLoughlin walloped the visiting captain in three straight sets in the first game on the West Side courts. This victory gave the westerner six sets in singles against Rice and Doust without the loss of a set. Williams' match with Rice with a series already decided was in the form of an exhibition and a mighty strenuous one too. The Antipodean sneaked over two sets before the Harvard star knew what was up. Rallying gallantly, Williams got on the track and won the next three sets that gave him the match. Upper photo shows scene on West Side Tennis courts, Hackett and McLoughlin playing Doust and Jones in the doubles.

The Spring Coiffure.

Every one seems to be giving whole-hearted admiration to the coiffure designs fashionable this spring, because they epitomize all that is graceful and becoming. They do not burden the head with pads and cages, nor do they deprive the hair of its natural beauty.

It is recognized that every age of femininity has its special charm, and that the white hair of the dowager is in its way as beautiful as the raven locks of her grandchild. Even that once disliked mixture known as pepper and salt is made a fascination, particularly when there is one white "feather" in the front.

To achieve the distinction of the white strand, bleaching is resorted to in some cases, but it is far more satisfactory to have been given it by Nature, a present that runs in families, and is treasured by those who possess it.

There is a reposeful and girlish charm in the coiffure that outlines the shape of the head, and yet has not any special definition or arrangement beyond that. The hair is lightly waved and parted in the center though the parting is clearly indicated and at the back there is a suggestion of the chignon, though the tresses are shown outside all over. No knot or puff is visible.

As a matter of fact, the arrangement is a study in suppression, with line and neatness the delightful results. The hair looks as if it has been sculptured—not a tress is out of place.

Though the hairdressers may regret a diminution in the use of dyes, as has been asserted, they will find plenty to do, for, as usual, the natural appearance that is applauded cannot be achieved without the exercise of very great art. Even the youngest debutantes have their hair most carefully attended to twice or thrice a week by accomplished coiffeurs, who treat it with special shampoos that throw up the lights and shades in it and intensify the beauty of its coloring, undulate it, fluff it, and dress it so that it looks as smart as smart can be, with that well cared for aspect that is in itself a charm

Keep Your Ankles Slender.

There are women whose slenderness of ankle and wrist remains unchanged, no matter how much avoirdupois the rest of the figure takes on as years advance, but the average woman finds difficulty in keeping her ankles trim after 30—especially in the summer time when the high-buttoned boot is exchanged for low-cut slippers and pumps. If low footwear is worn continuously through the summer, it is found that buttoned boots, donned in the autumn, pinch cruelly unless the buttons are moved. As the ankles, spread because of unconfinement during the summer, recede in size, the boot becomes loose and another change of the buttons is necessary.

This trouble may be obviated if the buttoned boot is worn at least part of the time during the summer, and as such boots are now considered best form for street wear with formal costumes, a pair of dainty patent leather boots with buttoned tops of suede or cloth will not only assist in keeping the ankles trim, but will complete one's summer wardrobe satisfactorily. The white buckskin buttoned boots, worn with white tailored costumes, are smart and attractive in appearance and are comfortable even on the warmest days.

The ankles of the woman who has been a good dancer in youth, seldom grow clumsy as years advance, for the firmly knit leg muscles allow little opportunity for a deposit of fat. Rising and falling on the toes 50 times night and morning, will help to harden the ankles and keep them more tender and so will walking with the toe persistently placed on the ground before the heel.

ICEBERGS OUT OF COURSE.

Wireless Reports Tell of "Vagrants" Sighted In Southern Latitudes.

Newport, R. I., June 13.—Further reports of vagrant ice in the north Atlantic were received at the naval wireless station. A relayed message from the steamer Cestrian, dated June 7, said that a berg 400 feet long was sighted at 43.2 north latitude and 43.20 west longitude.

A message from the revenue cutter Seneca says: Several bergs reported between 48 and 49 north and 46 and 7 west. The Seneca cruised to 45 north and 46 west, but saw no ice.

BUDDING A WALNUT TREE.

New Method Developed by Student of Oregon Agricultural College.

A new method of budding walnuts has been developed by E. J. Kraus of the Oregon agricultural experiment station. Buds one year old are used, those found just below the current year's growth. Only plump buds that have remained dormant are employed.

It is also possible to use buds from scion wood cut during the winter or very early spring, when it is in a perfectly dormant condition. If such scions are placed in moist sand for a couple of weeks before the budding is done the buds may be removed quite easily.

In making the hinge bud a transverse incision about half an inch long is made about one inch above the surface of the soil and a similar one about three-fourths of an inch above the other. The two are then connected with a longitudinal incision which forms the completed "I" cut on the stock.

The bud, which is rectangular and of exactly the same length as the distance between the two transverse cuts on the stock, is removed from the bud stick by first making two transverse cuts of the proper distance apart to give the correct length to the bud and then connecting these two by longitudinal cuts about half an inch apart. The bud proper should be approximately in the center of this piece. The bud is then easily removed by inserting the back of the knife blade gently under one corner of the piece of bark and prying up, when it will be found that it will part readily from the bud stick.

Photograph by Oregon Agricultural college.

IN THE WALNUT PLOT.

As soon as the bud is removed from the bud stick it should be inserted into the stock immediately. This is accomplished readily by first turning back the upper corners of the "I" shaped cut carefully, prying them away from the wood slightly, then inserting the base of the bud into the opening, pushing it down until the top and bottom of the bud are flush with the transverse cuts on the stock and the bud lies smoothly and snugly against it.

PUT BACK THE FERTILITY.

Nature is not an inexhaustible storehouse which may be looted with impunity by every freebooter who calls himself a farmer. There will be a day of reckoning. Any system of agriculture that doesn't conserve the fertility of the soil on which agriculture depends is all the time drawing on the bank of nature, and in the end the drafts will be dishonored.—Iowa Homestead.

Treating Wounds of Trees.

The Ohio station reports that two steps in pruning wound treatment of trees may be found necessary. One is the sterilization of the surface of a wound by the use of a torch or the application of an antiseptic or spore destroying substance. The other is the application of dressings to prevent the entrance of harmful spores or bacteria. One such dressing is generally sufficient. There are a large number of effective germicides, such as corrosive sublimate, gasoline, kerosene, carbolic acid, petroleum, copper sulphate and formaldehyde. The availability of any depends largely upon the nature of the wound. Protective paints have usually been applied as dressings, but, as a rule, these are very ineffective. Far better are preparations of asphaltum and residual tars.

To Kill the Canada Thistle.

According to an Iowa press bulletin, sodium arsenite is the only chemical that will entirely destroy the Canada thistle. It is applied at the rate of one and one-half pounds to fifty-two gallons of water. It further states that a good method for the eradication of this weed is to plow shallow and cultivate frequently during the summer. After plowing the soil should be dragged and the roots exposed to the sun and removed. It may be found necessary to cut off with a hoe the stray plants.

ROYALTY IS GUARDED

King and Queen of Denmark Visit Relatives in England.

King Christian X. and Queen Alexandra of Denmark planned to visit King George and Queen Mary of England and to visit King Christian's sister, the Princess Maude. Elaborate arrangements were made in London for their reception at Marlborough House. Every precaution was taken to prevent a demonstration by the militant suffragets. It was feared that the "wild women" might make the visit of Denmark's ruler and his consort the occasion of a new outbreak in order to attract attention to their fight.

THE MAYOR AND THE POLICE CHIEF.

Throughout his present administration Mayor Cassingham has been at loggerheads both with the city council and with Police Chief John Mapel. In public affairs, as in private, a high state of efficiency can be secured only by open and hearty co-operation between the various departments and among ALL the employes.

This co-operation has been sadly lacking throughout Mayor Cassingham's term. The Tribune together with practically all other disinterested observers, lays the responsibility for this unnecessary state of affairs at the door of the mayor. And the one underlying cause of most of this mischievous friction IS THE MAYOR'S DETERMINATION TO PLAY POLITICS INSTEAD OF TRYING TO GIVE THE PEOPLE VALUE RECEIVED FOR THE SERVICES FOR WHICH THEY ARE PAYING HIM

If Mr. Cassingham had a mine foreman who was not delivering the goods he would fire him outright and not play the baby as he has been doing for two years with both council and the head of the police department. Mapel has no cinch on his job. If he is not delivering the goods he ought to be fired. And if he isn't delivering the goods no one is in better position to know it and prove it on him than the mayor.

But to the disinterested observer, THE REAL TROUBLE IS THAT MAPLE IS DELIVERING THE GOODS EXASPERATED BY THE FACT THAT MAPEL IS A CAPABLE, CONSCIENTIOUS, HARD WORKING CHIEF WHO IS TRYING TO BE THE KIND OF A CHIEF THAT HE AS A TAX PAYER AND PRIVATE CITIZEN WOULD WANT TO SEE IN THE OFFICE, HE IS MADE THE VICTIM OF A CHIEF EXECUTIVE WHO FOR YEARS HAS SUBJECTED HIM TO EVERY DEVILISH, PETTY ANNOYANCE AND HUMILIATION THE WIT OF MAN CAN DEVISE.

The Tribune holds no brief for John Mapel either as a citizen or police chief. If he is an efficient chief and satisfactory to his employers, the people, he ought not to be nagged at and harrassed as was detailed in the news columns of The Tribune Thursday morning. If he isn't an efficient public servant he ought to be summarily fired AND THE MAYOR SHOULD HAVE NO HESITANCY IN FILING AND PROVING CHARGES OF INCOMPETENCY AGAINST HIM

As the result of an alleged "slip" in the legislature, it is said that after August 1 next, Ohio mayors will, for the space of several months, be able to override the civil service protection long thrown about police chiefs and will be able to discharge them from the service without cause

Incidentally, we wish to state here that we don't believe there was any "slip" about it. People everywhere hold the opinion that the error in engrossing a bill which is charged to one of the legislative clerks, was no clerical error at all, but a deliberately framed scheme, in which many believe Governor Cox had a part, to enable Mayor Karb of Columbus to get rid of Police Chief Carter of that city

But regardless of The Tribune's opinion or anyone else's opinion on this matter [illegible] that [illegible] months after August 1, OHIO POLICE CHIEFS WILL BE AT THE MERCY OF MAYORS LIKE KARB AND CASSINGHAM WHO SEEM TO DEVOTE MORE [illegible] THE GAME OF POLITICS THAN THEY DO TO AN EFFICIENT AND BUSINESS-LIKE DISCHARGE OF THEIR DUTIES

[illegible] August 1 [illegible] prediction may [illegible] as if the [illegible] from the service [illegible] an investigation [illegible]

THEY MUST HUSTLE FOR VOTES.

[illegible] The time [illegible] senators, who [illegible] legislatures must get out [illegible] votes.

Walker & Lawrence
"A Good Place To Buy Good Shoes"
See our Trot-Moc for grown-ups and growing ups

The seventeenth amendment is going to be a great destroyer of superflous dignity Senators who have considered themselves too far above the peopl to be accountable to them must greatly unbend. They must, if they desire to retain the prestige of senatorship, descend to the plane of the mere voter, talk with him about the issues of the day, hand him a campaign cigar, kiss his baby and inquire about his crops. Boies Penrose is breaking himself in early. Some of the others may find the degradation too humiliating to be borne, and choose voluntary retirement.

Pennsylvania, from a senatorial standpoint, has been a typical vest pocket borough. It has, in other words, been a state whose senators have made no appeal to the voters. They have been elected by legislatures responsible not so much to the people as to the bosses. It will be peculiarly distressing for Mr. Penrose and Mr. Oliver to go around asking for votes, but Mr. Penrose is courageous and philosophical enough to prepare for the inevitable.

The state legislatures have lately been drifting more and more away from the Pennsylvania idea. The result has been a rapid diminution in the number of nonrepresentative senators. There are only about a dozen striking examples left, and of these only one has a full term ahead of him Francis Emroy Warren was elected last winter by the Wyoming legislature after a considerable fight, and his term will not expire till 1919 All the other senators of the Warren type will pass out in 1915 or 1917.

It is safe to predict offhand that a few of these will not go before the people with any plea for popular election. It is impossible to imagine the aged aged Stephenson of Wisconsin or du Pont of Delaware on a stumping expedition. Gallinger of New Hampshire and Dillingham of Vermont, whose terms expire in 1915, are of a slightly different classification. They are men of political force, even though rated as members of the ancient senatorial aristocracy, and might make successful popular appeals to their conservative New England constituencies.

Reed Smoot, perhaps the ablest of the frank reactionaries in the senate, is likely to meet with popular success because of his connection with the Mormon Church, but his equally reactionary colleague, George Sutherland, a non-Mormon may find the going rough. Henry F. Lippitt of Rhode Island is another relic of an earlier day who may prefer to get out without lowering his dignity.

The southern Democrats who have long held their seats by grace of complaisant legislatures are not classed with the Republican group for the reason that they may be accepted as fairly representative of the kind of senators the people of the south would themselves have chosen. It will mean no loss of dignity for these elderly statesmen to present their cases for popular approval.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Senator Hughes says: "Making due allowance for the interest of men in their business, I should say no improper attempts were made to influence me." The expression, "due allowance" is a cloak that may cover a multitude of sins in the senator's case.

Senator $107,000 Stephenson says, "I'm not against lawyers: they're a necessary evil." You're right at that, senator. And they've been an expensive necessity to you throughout your active political career.

The new German 27,000-ton Dreadnaught has just been launched. If it escapes icebergs and internal explosions it ought not reach the scrap heap, in the natural course of events before 1919.

A speaker said the other day that "the real struggle of the militant suffragets is to keep on the front page." Well, up to date it hasn't looked so much like a struggle as a cinch.

Isn't it enough to arouse suspicion to note that the only people in the country who are at all worried about the strength of our military outfit are the heads of the army and navy?

The Wise Guy says: when a girl deliberately sets out to make a fool of a young man she usually has his help.

Stiil Uncertain About Currency

Washington, June 13.—Whether there will be currency legislation at this session of the congress will depend largely on the business outlook presented when the tariff is out of the way. If the tariff bill is passed by the senate along about the first of August and there are no indications of serious business depression, the President probably will be willing to let the session come to an end, with the understanding that currency legislation shall be taken up in the fall. If, on the other hand, the business sky is obscured by clouds, the chief executive undoubtedly will insist most strenuously that the session be prolonged until currency legislation can be perfected

The house of representatives will, of course, pass a currency bill, but probably pass it before the senate finishes with the tariff With a bill halfway through the legislative body, public men very generally agree that unless the need for currency legislation appeared to be pressing, it would probably be just as well to let the country have three or four months to digest the proposed banking and currency legislation

Favor Public Hearings

The action of the subcommittee of the house committee on banking and currency in voting to hold public hearings on proposed banking and currency legislation is likely to be very generally approved It is not the intention to conduct long-drawn out hearings. The banking and currency committee of the last congress got together a great deal of information bearing on the subject of currency legislation, and the members of the committee say that they can see no reason why a large number of men should be permitted to submit their ideas to the committee.

The tentative plan now is to get the currency bill before the house early in July and it is pointed out that this program will give the house plenty of time to dispose of the legislation before the senate takes the final vote on the tariff.

The Wall Street Joke

So far as the national administration is concerned, there is no uneasiness whatever over the general business outlook. During the last two or three weeks, the treasury department has gone to some pains to gather information with reference to the situation throughout the country, and the judgment of treasury officials is that conditions are sound. This judgment is backed up by men of affairs in every part of the country The uneasiness displayed by Wall Street is coming to be a joke here at Washington, and according to treasury department officials is being regarded in the same way by business men everywhere

In this connection it is pointed out that stocks went off on account of the Minnesota rate decision, a decision that the country had been expecting for a year, and a decision that was precisely what the railroad men and their lawyers looked for. There does seem to be very general agreement that whatever tightening up of credit there is in the financial centers it is in nowise due to the tariff legislation.

Big Crop Promised.

The reports received here show that the outlook is for one of the largest crops ever produced in the United States, and that the wholesale and retail merchants of the country are doing a record-breaking volume of business

The retail merchants have been going through a season of unusual prosperity, due, in part, it is said, to the advantage of buying they were able to do because manufacturers were cleaning up stocks in order to be prepared to readjust their business so as to meet changed conditions under the new tariff law

According to treasury advices the banks of the country with the possible exception of some of the commercial banks in New York, are thoroughly optimistic with respect to the future.

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo who has announced his readiness to issue circulation under the Aldrich-Vreeland law, is testing the situation. His order making available the $500,000,000 of emergency currency now stored in the vaults of the treasury will show whether there is at this time any demand whatever for additional circulation.

McAdoo's Statement

Some of the bankers in New York who are not maintaining a friendly attitude toward the administration have, it is asserted, for a quiet way been trying to make it appear that money was [illegible] To use a popular phrase of the street, the secretary [illegible] "called them."

Secretary McAdoo, who was an early White House caller today said that his statement announcing that $500,000,000 of emergency currency would be forthcoming should banks need it was made in response to numerous inquiries from bankers Mr McAdoo declared that some of the banks were anxious to know, in view of the approaching time for crop movement, whether additional currency would be available.

THE BUM AND THE PHILANTHROPIST

(An Editorial Fable by Berton Braley.)

Before the heavenly gate they stood, and one was portly and smug and "good," the other was scarred by an evil life, warped by destiny, marred by strife. A crooked, unlovely soul was he. St. Peter said, "Brother, who might you be?"

The warped one answered him, "Bill the Bum, wot lived his life in a rotten slum: I fought an' gambled an' stole an' swore, 'cause I thought that's all I was livin' for. I wasn't no good, I know, but, say—I played the game I was taught to play. I done the way I was learned to do, so dat's me spiel—an' it's up to you"

St. Peter juggled his golden key and said to the other, "Who might YOU be?" The smug soul lifted his head in pride. "I'm a public character," he cried "I'm Jonas Gouger, Philanthropist, I'm found at the head of every list of givers to tender charity, and heaven's the proper place for me."

St Peter nodded his august head "I'll add to that tale a bit," he said "You're one of the men who ran a mill where children toiled through the weary day. You're one of the sort who used to kill the children's joy and their chance to play. Oh, you KNEW better, but 'gold was good,' though wrung from boyhood and maidenhood, you took it gladly for all its shame, knowing EXACTLY whence it came

"Now, Bill don't rank with the seraphim, yet I'd take a sort of a chance on him; but what excuse has a man like YOU? Bill learned no better, but you—you KNEW! So I'll try Bill out for a little spell but you, smug faker, can go to Hell."

Miss Wilson Gives Lesson in Politeness

Washington D C June 12.—Miss Eleanor Wilson gave a lesson in street car politeness today to three Washington men, when she gave up her seat to an old woman

Miss Wilson, accompanied by Dr. Cary Grayson, White House aide, boarded the car at Connecticut and Florida avenues. Two old women in shabby black got on at the next corner Dr Grayson immediately yielded his seat, but three other men were not as gallant. Miss Wilson, with an indignant look at the men, arose and piloted the other old woman to her seat, while she swung on a strap the remainder of the way to the White House.

Mrs. Lucy DeWitt of Crooked Valley had as her guests Wednesday Mrs Noah Barrett and daughter Oneta and Mrs. Anna Lawrence and son John of Pine Grove.

cessitated her retirement from teaching in order that she might remain at home and assist her mother in the care of her sister's son then but a small boy. Nine weeks later the death of another sister, Mrs. W. R. Gault brought to the Sample home on Chestnut street the motherless son of Judge and Mrs. W. R. Gault. Until the death of her mother in 1892 and even after that time Miss Sample continued to reside with her nephews at the old family home on Chestnut street, at present owned by Miss Anna Williams. For a number of years previous to her death, Miss Sample lived in the L. H. Heffledinger property on Locust street.

Miss Sample was the last surviving member of one of the county's pioneer families. Her father was Judge William Sample one of the foremost members of the local bar a half century ago. Staunch Presbyterians and in every way associated with the progress and welfar of the community the name has ever been an honored one in the city of Coshocton.

At the time of her death Miss Sample was the only surviving member of the family in this city. The four other children of Judge and Mrs. Sample preceded her to the grave. Sam Lamberson the nephew of Spokane, Wash., who was summoned at the time Miss Sample was injured was ill and was unable to travel. He wired a message to friends Friday asking that the burial service proceed and stated that he would come to Coshocton as soon as possible. Mrs. Joshua Butler (Mary Williams) a niece of Iola, Kansas, who arrived in Coshocton a few days ago was with Miss Sample at the time of her death. Stewart Gault of Steubenville, another nephew and Dwight Sample also a nephew now on an engineering expedition in Brazil Chas. Williams and Mrs. Maud Bales a Nephew and niece of Iola, Kan. are the other surviving relatives.

A woman of a fine mind, ability far beyond the ordinary and a heart filled only with kindness for others will long keep her memory a blessed one to those who knew and loved her. Miss Sample was a devoted member of the Presbyterian church. The faith which was hers through the years of her long and useful life sustained and kept her in the hours of her illness when she knew that the end was near.

The body was taken to the home of the brother-in-law, Judge W. R. Gault on Chestnut street Friday morning and funeral services will be held from the Gault home Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock Rev. George Brewer of the Presbyterian church in charge. Burial will take place later in the family lot in Oak Ridge cemetery.

The pleasure of giving as well as the joy of receiving depends greatly upon the amount of thought and personality used in selecting a gift. In presenting an appropriate, wellchosen gift the idea of dollars and cents cut is secondary, as it properly should be.

Now that June, the season of many weddings, is approaching it is well for those contemplating the purchase of gifts to busy themselves and decide upon what they will give.

Goes Broke Keeping Son Out of Jail

Chicago, June 12.—Declaring that he had lost nearly everything he had trying to keep his son out of jail during the last five years, Philip Kaufman today came to the end of his rope and asked the arrest of Allen J. Kaufman.

"He embezzled $2,500 from the Chicago firm he was working for," said the father, "and I made that good. He got a job in Rochester, N. Y., and stole $2,500 which I restored. Incidentally, he kept forging my name to checks." In the last eighteen months they have aggregated $3,000, and now all my possessions are gone and my wife is in the East trying to borrow money for me."

MARTIAL LAW COMES TO END

Civil Authorities Again Reign in West Virginia Coal Fields.

Charleston, W. Va., June 13.—Martial law ceased to exist in the feud-ridden coal fields of West Virginia today. The last uniformed militiamen abandoned the Paint and Cabin creek districts and in their stead the rule of the civil authorities was restored. The sheriff of Kanawha county is again the chief peace officer of the troubled region where civil war has reigned for more than a year.

All offenders against the law will be punished from now on by the constitutional courts of the state.

By a proclamation issued by Governor Hatfield, the power of the courts was restored. And the senate committee on the ground investigating the allegations that the constitutional rights of citizens had been ruthlessly violated, accepted the action of the state officials as an admission of guilt.

The subject of the action of the inquiry ordered by the United States senate has therefore been closed by the inquisitors. They will report to the senate that the civil authorities failed in their duties to safeguard the rights of the miners. The inquisitors will also tell the full senate committee on education and labor when it returns to Washington that evidence was produced substantiating the charge that miners were actually interfered with in getting their mail at the postoffices maintained in certain "company stores" in the strike zone.

Responsibility for this will probably not be specifically placed. The facts will be stated, and it is likely that legislation will be recommended which will preclude a recurrence of such a condition in the future.

The committee has been unable to substantiate the charges of peonage in the district. Only the most vague suggestions along this line have been forthcoming and it is considered certain that this line of inquiry would be abandoned.

The proposition of dividing the inquiry encountered strong opposition of the attorneys representing the mine owners. Their objections met with little encouragement from the committee.

Committee Drops Request.

Governor Hatfield's letter declining to furnish the committee with the records of cases tried before the last military committee was discussed by the committee, and, while no formal action was taken, the committee was practically agreed that no further action should be taken toward demanding that the governor produce the records.

Major Thomas B Davis of the militia denied that he had ever interfered with the miners getting their mail, or that he or his soldiers worked with the Baldwin guards when martial law had been proclaimed. He told of forcing one Baldwin man to leave the Cabin Creek field.

The major said that he imposed $283 in fines on miners at Eskdale, and that he sentenced miners who were unable to pay fines to work under guard

"Most of these men I fined," he said, "were working miners not strikers, who were bringing whisky into the martial law zone," said Major Davis.

Representative S B Avis, former county prosecutor, was grilled at length by Senator Borah He admitted that he made no attempt to secure indictments of men accused of crime. Instead, he said he had called on the military tribunals to handle the situation

In extenuation he declared a belief that no grand jury would have indicted or trial jury convicted any of those responsible for the murders, riots and property destruction which terrorized the state

"Do you claim that the state could not get justice because of this widespread basis and prejudice?" sternly demanded Borah

"I certainly do," answered the witness

"Now, then," continued Borah "will you explain to this committee how both sides could get a fair trial from a commission composed entirely of men who favored the state?"

The witness admitted that he could not answer the question

Home Building and Loan to Occupy Own Quarters

Friday it was announced that to accommodate its rapidly growing business, the Home Building and Loan Association will soon occupy a Main street business room. A lease has been taken on the building for ten years and it is thought that the room will be ready for occupancy, with all modern fixtures installed, by September 1. E. A. Crawford, secretary of the Coshocton Light and Heating Co. has resigned his position and will have active charge of the business of the association.

For some time past the company's business has been transacted at the office of the Coshocton Light and Heating Co. but by shrewd management of business on the part of Mr. Crawford there is now need for separate and more commodious quarters.

The company now has assets to the amount of $280,000 and is capitalized at a half million dollars.

The officers of the company are:

President, J. C. Fisher.
Vice President, C. J. Bowen.
Secretary, E. A. Crawford.
Attorney, F. E. Pomerene.

The directors are W. A. Himebaugh, H. D. Beach, T. L. Montgomery, M. Q. Baker, and A. P. Stewart.

Robert G. Thompson, of New Philadelphia, will succeed E. A. Crawford as secretary of the Coshocton Light and Heating Co.

Double-header at Fresno Today

A double header will be played this afternoon, between Fresno and West Lafayette on the Fresno diamond. A large crowd of West Lafayette rooters will accompany their team

Dedicate New House of Worship

Sunday afternoon the White Eyes M. P. church southeast of Plainfield will be dedicated. Appropriate services for the occasion will be held.

Loan of $700 Brings Him One Million

Wellston, Ohio, June 12. — (Special.)—In the 80's Dr. E. S. Higley lent Charles Froelich, a farmer lad, $700 with which to complete his education. Assassination of Lincoln at the Luna Today

Director Francis Ford has just completed a new photoplay in which the Ford's Theatre in Washington are depicted as they were on that tragic night forty-eight years ago. William Clifford as Wilkes Booth, jumps from the balcony to the stage and escapes, with the audience rising en masse in indignation, as the president sinks back with his wife bending over him. It is a great jump and it took a lot of rehearsing. Francis Ford plays Lincoln, and Alexander Gaden and Ethel Grandon have strong roles.

OPERATIONS ON HEART AND BRAIN NOW POSSIBLE

Paris, June 12.—Surgical research has proved that operations in the thoracic cavity can be performed as easily as in the abdomen, according to Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, New York.

In the course of a lecture today at the Beaujon hospital in Paris, the Nobel prize winner declared that experiments on animals had demonstrated the heart to be an organ of very great resistance and that it does not suffer harm if the circulation is interrupted for five or even ten minutes.

The brain however, said Dr. Carrel, is more delicate and may not be interrupted for more than three or four minutes, which, nevertheless, gives time for the accomplishment of much surgical work.

VINCENT ASTOR ON COURT BENCH

New York, June 12. — Vincent Astor called on Judge Warren Foster in court 1 of the general sessions court and remained on the bench with him for more than an hour. Mr. Astor was accompanied to the court by Sylvester Foster, a brother of Judge Foster.

After chatting with Mr Astor a few minutes Judge Foster invited him to the bench. Part 1 is the court where the pleadings are made, and there were about fifteen pleas made while Mr. Astor was there He also read with great interest the reports submitted by probation officers on prisoners who have pleaded or been found guilty and are awaiting sentence.

Winnipeg, Man., June 12. — Manitoba and Saskatchewan are literally burning up under the intense heat of the last few days. A deleterious effect on the wheat is feared.

MINISTER IS HERO OF BRAWL

Dubuque, Iowa, June 13.—Rev. A. F. Glover, 23, pastor of the first Methodist church is the hero of the hour to-day. Dropping his work of preparing a sermon late last night the pastor seized an automatic revolver and quelled a riot by a dozen drunken boys whom he jailed at the point of a gun.

They were each fined $10 today and vowed to get revenge on the preacher. "I'll shoot them on sight and convert them in a hospital," said the minister when informed of the threat.

SENATOR RAPS AT PRESIDENT

Gallinger Says Wilson Is Perilously Near Lobbyist Class.

Washington, June 13.—President Wilson's name, in connection with "White House influence" for the tariff bill, was brought before the senate lobby investigating committee again by Senator Gallinger, who declared the president come "perilously near lobbying" in some of the things he had done in connection with the tariff bill.

Mr. Gallinger did not make a direct charge that the president had "lobbied" for the tariff bill, but the insinuations in his testimony were taken by Democratic senators to be so broad that they subjected him to a long cross-examination on the subject of White House influence.

Senator Gallinger's statements came as a profound sensation. He was about to leave the stand when Senator Reed asked a final question.

"When a man says that he would hang some one as high as Haman if that person did not do certain things," said Senator Gallinger, "and that an industry which proposed reduction of wages and did so, would be investigated, I think that is about the worst kind of influence I can imagine."

"What do you think of a public official that gets up a scare about an 'insidious' lobby?" asked Senator Nelson.

"That he intends to influence public opinion and the opinion of public men," returned Senator Gallinger.

"I have no disposition to criticise public officials for cheap partisan purposes," said Gallinger. "I still am forced to the belief that the influence used in behalf of free sugar or free wool or free anything else was objectionable as anything else."

Senator Reed tried to draw the line between the president acting in behalf of the people who elected him and private interests conducting a campaign for selfish ends.

"I am an old fashioned person," replied Senator Gallinger. "I still believe in the three co-ordinate branches of the government and it grieves me to see the executive encroaching on the powers of the others and attempting to influence legislation.

"The sugar men were represented," said Senator Reed. "Don't you think the president had a right to use his influence"

"The president has a right to make his statements in messages to congress."

"You do not want to charge that the president or the United States has brought any kind of coercion to bear on any members of congress."

"I would not undertake to do so. I have no disposition to criticise him unfairly."

Mr. Gallinger added that he did know that many Democrats were complaining because more offices were not filled and more nominations not sent to the senate

"You don't mean to intimate that the president is holding up appointments to compel them to vote for legislation they do not desire?"

"I make no charge."

BRITAIN'S RULER GETS COLD FEET

Cancels Party Bids Through Fear of Suffraget Demonstration.

London, June 13.—The suffragets received a sort of royal recognition when King George, at the eleventh hour, cancelled all arrangements for the big garden party that was to have been given at Windsor Castle June 21, following the Ascot racing season.

Apprehension of suffraget interference was the reason semi-officially given for the cancellation. The invitations to the royal party were engraved and addressed, and were to have been sent out today.

ORDERS KEEL LAID.

New Battleship No. 39 to Be Limit In Naval Construction.

Washington, June 13. — Orders issued by Secretary of the Navy Daniels provide for the beginning of construction work on battleship No. 39 before July 1, at the New York navy yard. This battleship, which is yet to be named, will be practically a sister ship of the Pennsylvania, the largest fighting machine yet projected in the world. The new vessel will be the fourth battleship to be built in a government navy yard. The other battleships, all built at New York, are the Connecticut and Florida, with the New York yet under construction

Secretary Daniels has also ordered the immediate assembling of material for the Pennsylvania and the laying of the keel at the earliest possible moment. This will be the first big vessel to be constructed under the present administration.

No 39 and the Pennsylvania probably will prove the limit in dimensions of warship construction by this or any other country, on account of the Panama canal. The ships will be 608 feet in length, with a beam of 97 feet, a draft of 28 feet 10 inches and a displacement of 31,400 tons.

A speed of 21 knots is required. The batteries will consist of 12 14 inch guns, located in four turrets four submerged torpedo tubes and 22 5-inch rapid-fire guns The complement is 936 officers and men The machinery will consist of high-power turbines, the Curtis type in the Pennsylvania and the Parsons type in No 39, each with smaller cruising turbines geared to the propellers.

ARRANGES FINAL DETAILS

Columbus Newspaper Man Has Charge of Perry Centennial.

He has charge of over $1,000,000 raised by popular subscription. The celebration lasts from July 4 to Oct. 5, and all the lake cities from Buffalo to Chicago are interested. The memorial monument will be unveiled at Put-in-Bay on Sept 10. Mr Huntington is a Columbus (O.) newspaper man.

STOCK DEAL PROPOSED.

McReynolds Objects to Terms of Pacific Dissolution.

St. Paul, Minn., June 13.—Announcement of the completion of negotiations for the exchange of $28,000,000 of Southern Pacific stock held by the Union Pacific railroad for $42,000,000 of Baltimore & Ohio stock held by the Pennsylvania was made at the hearing of the plans for the dissolution of the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific merger.

Attorney General McReynolds announced that as far as advised he had no objection to this transfer of stock, but he did object to the plan offered by the Union Pacific company for the sale of the balance of $126,000,000 Southern Pacific stock which it holds Mr. McReynolds asked either that a receiver be named to handle the sale of the stock or that the court name a commission to dispose of the Southern Pacific stock held by the Union Pacific. The court took the proposed plan and the objections under advisement.

The Union Pacific company, represented by the chairman of its board, Robert S. Lovett, Attorneys N. H. Loomis, W. H. Clark and others, said that it was opposed to any plan for disposing of the stock which would necessitate a sale at a sacrifice. The stock which is now selling at 94 was up to 110 last January. They contended that any plan which would compel them to sell before conditions change would be unfair to the Union Pacific stockholders and the company would not voluntarily submit to it. They said they hoped conditions would change very soon, but if not, they would be in the hands of the court.

Wedding to Lose Busch Big Wager

St. Louis, June 12.—Adolphus Busch will lose a wager of $10,000 on the day his grandson, Adolphus Busch III, becomes the husband of Mrs. Florence Parker Lambert.

Several months ago, when young Busch and the divorcee betrayed particular fondness for each other's company, Mrs. Edward A. Faust remarked in the presence of her father, Adolphus Busch, that they would be married some day.

The wealthy brewer thought the prediction so preposterous that he made a wager with his daughter of $10,000 to $1,000 her prophecy would not prove correct. With the announcement of the engagement he is conceded to have lost.

750 Ohio Vets to go to Gettysburg

Columbus, Ohio, June 13.—Adjutant-General Wood said to-day that he had received the names of 750 members of Ohio regiments who participated in the battle of Gettysburg and who will attend at the expense of the state the reunion of civil war veterans to be held in Gettysburg, Pa., June 30 to July 5. The number of old soldiers who have signified their intentions of attending the reunion is greater than was anticipated by the legislature when the bill authorizing the expenditure for their care and transportation was passed, but General Wood stated that an emergency appropriation would be granted to make up any deficiency.

"SPUDS" SPOIL BY WHOLESALE IN MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, Minn., June 13.—One hundred thousand bushels of potatoes, said to be spoiling on the tracks here, may be turned over to charitable institutions.

A Minneapolis produce company has appointed a committee to confer with railroad officials to-day on the proposition of giving the potatoes to charity, providing the roads will cancel the freight charges.

The extraordinary congestion of old crop potatoes is said to be partly due to the arrival of new potatoes from the South.

Yesterday the price dropped continuously throughout the day and there was but few buyers.

WIFE OBJECTS TO LIKE WRITING TO MANY GIRLS

Colorado Springs, Ohio, June 12.—Because of the husband's "Lotharian tendencies, his mania for writing to other women, and his Mormonlike disposition," Mrs. E. L. Lake obtained a divorce and half her husband's property.

Mrs. Lake declared that although her husband is fifty-six years old, he is a "regular Lothario," and she produced scores of letters, photographs, locks of hair and newspaper advertisements to prove her assertions.

"Corresponded With Thirty Women."

She said that Lake preferred to do his courting in person, but that when he was too busy he carried on correspondence with from twenty-five to thirty women. Sometimes he advertised for a partner, and sometimes answered matrimonial advertisements, his wife said.

In some of the advertisements Lake set forth the following: "Lady partner, willing to invest $1,000 in an egg farm, wanted by a free thinker and man of fine presence; will marry his affinity if found; must be decided brunette, handsome, rather stout, symmetrical physique, and of high social standing."

In some of his matrimonial literature Lake stated that he was a widower and inclosed his photograph and horoscope.

Mrs. Lake testified that sometimes women came to the ranch in reply to her husband's advertisement and letters, and that he was in the habit of speaking to girls in the streets when he came to town.

"On such occasions he would push me to one side," Mrs. Lake declared, "telling me that he did not want them to know he was tied to an old like thing."

Mrs. Lake alleged cruelty in the complaint.

POLICE DEPLORE IMMODEST DRESS OF MODERN WOMEN

Washington, June 12.—Chief of Police Peterson of Oakland, Cal., told the International Association of Police Chiefs to-day that a direct cause of immortality among men was the immodest dress of the average woman of to-day.

He included in his trade the modern dances and criticized the suffragists for their misdirected zeal in endeavoring to eliminate red light districts in big cities. Speaking of the needed dress reform Chief Peterson said:

"Our women wear their dresses too short at the bottom and cut too low at the neck. Their sleeves are too short and their skirts are slit half way up to the knee. More decent dressing on the part of the women would do more than a million lectures to increase the standard of morality among our young men."

Mrs. O. P. McDonald of route 6 shopped in Coshocton Friday.
